

Comments on the 15th International University Week Jena 2013

The International University Week in Jena has been an important experience for training and exchanging on different aspects of social work. It offered the possibility to build new relationships and compare approaches and research results.

The recreational moments have increased the opportunity to meet teachers and students in a friendly atmosphere.

The organisation of social activities, the excursions and the quality of food were excellent. Thanks to the careful work of the students and of the coordination staff.

Many thanks for your hospitality and the hard work. The IUW in Jena was a great opportunity to reflect about social work in an international perspective.

Elisa Matutini (Pisa)

The International University Week was fantastic. The students learned to interact with people from different countries, in different languages and with different cultures. As a social worker, this is a very important experience and future competence. Thereby, the organisation in Jena was incredible. The students did a lot themselves, which was a very nice way to get to know Jena, the Ernst-Abbe University and German culture and history. And I hope, in the end, we can keep contact with the different colleagues in Europe, so this kind of initiatives will keep on being organised in the future as well.

You all did a great job! Thank you!
