The School of Social Work, University of Applied Sciences Jena, will be host of the 15th International University Week from April 15th – 19th, 2013 in Jena (Germany).

We friendly welcome international students and university teachers from our European partners to participate within our international program.

The IUW 2013 will focus on different topics and methods of social work in modern societies and include workshops, field-related excursions as well as social activities and offers a chance to visit Jena, Weimar and Thuringia, the workplace and activity area of Schiller, Goethe, Hegel, Nietzsche, Feuerbach and others of the "noble classic" as well as the cradle of "reform education" in Germany (Peter Petersen, Jena-Plan-School; Hermann Lietz, Country-Education-Home-School; Friedrich Fröbel).

Welcome reception (coffee and cake, introduction to the program, excursion registration) and plenary session on Monday, April 15th/1 p.m. will commence in building 5, third floor, theatre and rooms 05.03.07-09.
